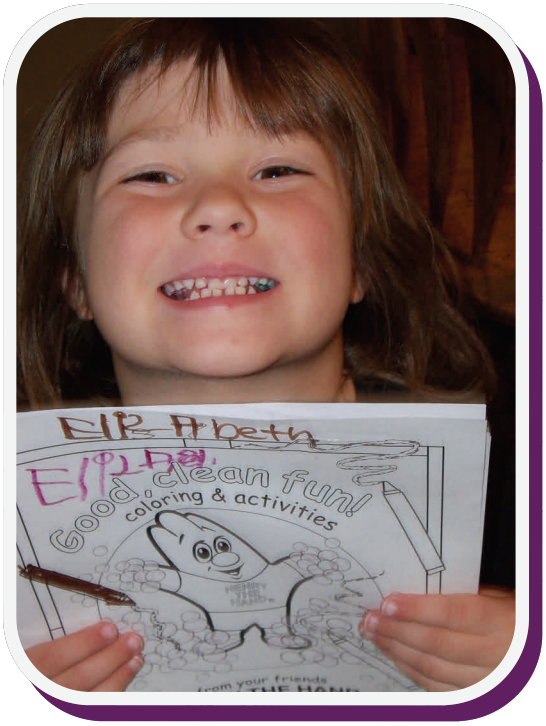
Suzi's Daycare



December 2 - 8 is National Handwashing Awareness week and the children from Suzi's Daycare in Cambridge learn the importance of handwashing with the help of Henry the Hand.

Denise Ringenberg, Health Educator came to Suzi Mollring's daycare and taught the children how to properly wash their hands. By using an ultraviolet light and a little glitter the kids had fun seeing all the germs that gather on their hands during everyday activities and then, after properly washing their hands, the germs are washed away.

The children were given an activity book filled with pages to color and other activities teaching proper handwashing to stop the spread of germs.
