Celebrating National Handwashing Awareness Week

McCook – Southwest Nebraska Public Health Department (SWNPHD) celebrates National Handwashing Awareness Week from December 2nd through 8th with simple messages and simple actions.

The most important thing you can do to keep from getting sick is to wash your hands according to the Centers for Disease Control. “Following simple steps can help you avoid common and serious diseases,” explains Bev Powers, SWNPHD Nurse. “By frequently washing your hands, you wash away germs that you have picked up from other people, contaminated surfaces, or from animals and animal waste. Practicing the four principles of Hand Awareness behaviors developed by Dr. Will Sawyer will help you stay healthy this winter.”

1. WASH your hands when they are dirty and BEFORE eating.
2. DO NOT cough into your hands.
3. DO NOT sneeze into your hands.
4. Above all, DO NOT put your fingers into your eyes, nose, or mouth. (T-ZONE)

Just a reminder to everyone on the correct way of washing hands:

1. Wet hands with warm water and use soap.
2. Rub your hands together, making sure to scrub all areas.
3. Rub for a minimum of 15 seconds or sing “Happy Birthday.”
4. Rinse thoroughly, then dry hands on a clean towel.
5. Turn faucet off with the towel, not hands, to prevent recontamination.

This simple action of washing your hands can make a difference in your home and community. Several diseases are transferred through poor handwashing and then touching our eyes, nose or mouth for easy transfer of germs.
